Today is the end of the Easter season and it goes out with a bang. Pentecost is equally as important as Easter and, in fact, it is a continuation of that feast. Hopefully, the joy you experienced at Easter has disappeared and the normal routine of life has kicked in, but more importantly, hopefully you have felt something missing, spiritually or psychologically or even emotionally. This is the working of the Holy Spirit, who for many is the great unknown. For the Holy Spirit to come there must be a yearning within you for Him to come. You have to see the need for Him to come as you have tried everything and it's not working. I, personally, know I need Him and so you have got to ask Him to come. The Holy Spirit is most humble and will not interfere in your life unless you invite Him in. This means that if you see yourself without a compass, that is, not knowing whether to turn left or right, or just being confused about life, whatever it may be, this can be turned to the good. When you discover that you are not the capable person you thought you were, then there's room for the Spirit to come. If you are always right and in charge and knowing what to do, then you don't need the Spirit. He is for us poor ones who try to deal with life but don't often succeed. Certainly, it's a grace of the Holy Spirit to see your weaknesses and your inadequacies just so that you cannot claim the glory when things work out beyond your expectations. Finally, I almost forgot but to see your sins is the first action of the Spirit as He will follow up with the true grace of repentance which ensures the forgiveness of our sins. This also entails giving that mercy to the other sinners around us!

So, let us all implore the Holy Spirit to come to us and to keep our hearts and minds open to his voice so that we can experience the true Joy which is the gift of the Holy Spirit.

Fr. Paul

Any help God will reward you a hundred fold, not only spiritually but materially as well.

Pentecost 2025

Rm 8, 26-27

Likewise the Spirit helps us in our weakness; for we do not know how to pray as we ought, but the Spirit himself intercedes for us with sighs too deep for words.²⁷ And he who searches the hearts of men knows what is the mind of the Spirit, because^[c] the Spirit intercedes for the saints according to the will of God.

Our Holy Family Academy second-grade class enthusiastically followed the recent King's Baton Relay! This global journey, connecting nations across the Commonwealth, gave students a captivating lesson on unity among the diverse cultures around the world!

Even as we marked our last school Mass of the academic year this week, our children have been especially attentive, truly open to understanding and receiving the powerful work of the Holy Spirit in their lives as we prepare to celebrate Pentecost this weekend.
